

CHANGE AGENT CERTIFICATION

CERTIFICATION IN THE MANAGED CHANGE™ PROCESS

Learning, plus Certification in a Single Package

Translating change management theory, concepts and resistance data into practical, timely, effective action plans requires a proactive, disciplined approach to managing change. Developing the skills to apply such an approach right, the first time, begs for expert tutelage along the way. LaMarsh Global is pleased to offer a single, comprehensive learning and skills development program that accomplishes both objectives.

Change Agent Certification is a two-phased program in which the participant learns the Managed Change™ process and becomes certified as a “Change Agent”. Candidates have a choice of learning venues: he/she can elect to attend a two-day Managed Change™ Workshop Program or complete our e-Lesson for Change Agents. In either program, the participants will 1) review the theory, concepts, value and challenges of managing change, 2) be introduced to the Managed Change™ process, model and toolkit and 3) begin practicing the application of Managed Change™ using the Managed Change™ Workbook as their “roadmap to success”.

After the workshop or the e-Lesson, the “Student” will receive personalized coaching from a senior LaMarsh Global Consultant to help them develop and hone their skills and competency to effectively apply Managed Change™ on-the-job. They will also participate in two skills development webinars. To complete the certification process, the participants will submit their Project Workbooks for evaluation. Participants who successfully complete this program will have gained the skills to apply Managed Change™ to complex, difficult change initiatives and have been certified as a “Change Agent”.

The Competency Development Triangle

Objectives of the program– the participants will:

- Understand how potential organizational resistance can impact the success of the implementation of a change initiative.
- Study the Managed Change™ process, model and tools.
- Learn how to build a change management strategy.
- Effectively define Current States & Desired States.
- Develop competency in mapping sponsorship.
- Begin creating plans for helping the leaders of the organization become better ‘sponsors’ of the change.
- Create effective Communication, Learning and Reward/Recognition action plans for reinforcing and encouraging positive, productive behaviors and discouraging nonproductive and counter-productive behaviors during the Delta State.
- Develop action plans that will help people overcome their resistance to the change and more rapidly accept the change.
- Build the plan to monitor the results of the project to insure that the changes are sustained and leveraged.
- Demonstrate the ability to effectively apply the Managed Change™ process, model and toolkit to projects at the “Change Agent” level.

Participants: Change Agents responsible for implementation, executives and managers who lead change initiatives, HR and OD professionals, IT/IS professionals, Finance and Audit managers, risk managers, Project Managers and project team members as well as Black Belts and Master Black Belts.

Prerequisites: None

Preparation: None required. Suggestion: To prepare for this program at the Inquirer level, participants may choose to read the book Master Change. Maximize Success by Jeanenne LaMarsh & Rebecca Potts prior to entering this certification program (available at major Internet bookstores).

CHANGE AGENT CERTIFICATION PROGRAM OUTLINE

The Change Agent Certification Program begins with a review of the dynamics and challenges of the change process. We offer two program formats that are designed to meet personal learning preferences, timing requirements, travel capabilities and business needs. The participant may launch his/her learning experience by 1) attending a traditional 2-day facilitated Managed Change™ Workshop Program, or 2) by successfully completing our self-directed e-Lesson for Change Agents Program available 7X24 via the Internet.

Learning Programs - Both programs deliver the following learning content:

- Overview of the dynamics, realities and challenges of the Change Process
- Introduction to the Managed Change™ Process, Model and tools
- The Stages of Change (Defining and articulating the Current and the Desired States)
- The Delta: Predicting the Chaos of the Transition
- Collecting and analyzing the data that identifies potential or overt organizational resistance
- Key Stakeholders: Sponsors, Change Agents, and Targets – how to identify their issues
- Developing the Change Management Strategy
- Creating the Change Systems: Learning, Communication, Rewards
- Implementing & sustaining the change

Certification Program

After the learning program, participants will receive eight Managed Change™ Field Guides and a Managed Change™ Project Workbook that will become their roadmap for applying Managed Change™ to a project at hand. During the subsequent 8-week period, two 90-minute webinars will discuss case study scenarios to reinforce the Managed Change™ concepts and improve their skills at preparing workable plans for guiding their organizations through the change process.

And, private, personalized coaching sessions will be provided by a senior LaMarsh Global Consultant to help each participant develop the change management strategy and tactics for their specific project. Upon submission of the Project Workbook, the Consultant will evaluate the participants' work. Candidates demonstrating competency to effectively apply Managed Change™ will be certified as Change Agents. This program qualifies for a minimum of 14 PDU credits from PMI.
